NEW ENGLAND PREMIERE FOR NEW SPACE FILM

"Down to Earth," a new film that uses animated cartoon techniques to tell the story of the safe return of a space traveler to earth, is scheduled to be premiered at Boston's Museum of Science on Friday evening, October 16.

Sponsored by Avco Corporation and produced with the cooperation of the United States Air Force, "Down to Earth" will be shown in conjunction with the opening of the Air Force Thor-Able nose cone exhibit for a month-long stay at the Museum. This nose cone was the first advanced design type to travel the full ICBM flight of over 5,000 miles at fantastic speeds and be recovered after crashing through a 12,000o Fahrenheit heat barrier.

The film will be shown throughout the evening, at regular intervals, beginning at 7:30 p.m., to the public. The Museum is open on Friday nights until 10 p.m.

The problem of re-entry was the last and in many ways most difficult problem of major scientific theory that had to be solved before intercontinental ballistic missiles (and eventually, manned satellites and space ships) could become a reality. The film tells the story of the scientific problems involved, in terms that can be easily understood. This is the story told in the film and proven with the physical presence of the Thor-Able re-entry vehicle.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Trampling Rough
Shod on the Public

LET'S FACE IT!

Let's face it! The time has come to stop emulating the ostrich and take our heads out of the sand. We are losing our markets for American products both at home and abroad.

Take steel, our most basic product, as Exhibit A. Foreign competition against our American Steel industry — increasing since mid-1957 regardless of the rise or fall of domestic steel production — has been more intense than ever during 1959. Imports of steel mill products topped exports by more than 77 per cent the first five months of this year — to be specific — imports were 1,501,792 net tons against exports of 850,747 net tons.

This was the first such sustained reversal of the traditional trend on record.

As this is being written, the steel mills which were closed down by a strike at midnight July 14 by the leaders of the United Steelworkers of America, are still closed. Each week of the strike is costing the striking steelworkers $65 million in lost wages — costing the country 2 million net tons of steel production.

This time the union just must not be granted its demands on the steel companies. Such capitulation would increase the already alarming adverse balance of foreign trade in steel, throw many steelworkers ultimately out of jobs and contribute to further inflation with further resultant shrinkage of the purchasing power of the American dollar.

"We Americans seem to have perfected the process of double-think in regard to competition. Although we understand and accept competition in our private lives (the girl of our dreams marries another man; Junior beats out the neighbor kid for a spot on the Little League team), we seem to miss seeing the competition that affects our company. A company that loses its ability to compete is soon finished, and all the human hopes, the family plans and personal security that rested on its success are doomed to fail."

Homemaker hints

by Barbara Fall

As a housewife, I've learned that it's wise to get a cleaner which does a specific job — and does that one job in the most efficient way possible.

S o m e months ago, I was introduced to SSS-T Steam Iron Cleaner, which I found actually cut ironing time in half by removing clogging scale, resulting in more steam and better ironing efficiency. I've also used this product for shower heads to get full flow of water, and to make kettles, vaporizers and sterilizers work better.

Now this same company has put out three more special cleaning aids, which also do a very fine job. Their SSS-T Rust Stain Remover removes rust stains from fabrics, porcelain sinks and tubs, and metals such as chrome on cars and venetian blinds. It is safe on hands and all finishes.

Their SSS-T Liquid Coffee-maker and Plasticware Cleaner does two jobs

... cleans coffee stains from coffee-makers without rubbing or scrubbing, and soaks away stains from plastic dinnerware, like melmac and melamine, leaving dishes clean and sanitary.

They have also developed a new way to remove a wide variety of stains. You simply roll on this SSS-T Rollaway Stain Remover (like you roll on deodorants) and ink, blood, cosmetics, food, paint and other stains are rolled away. It is safe for colors and all washables ... excellent for collars and cuffs.

All this reminds me of a phrase of my father's "get the right man for the right job." The SSS-T Cleaning Aids people seem to have the same idea.

Welfare states develop a wheel-chair philosophy in able-bodied people. The Indians, for example, no longer accept the idea of the Greer White Father at Washington. Indeed, they now have good reason to know there never was one."

Homemaker hints

by Barbara Fall

As a housewife, I've learned that it's wise to get a cleaner which does a specific job — and does that one job in the most efficient way possible.

Some months ago, I was introduced to SSS-T Steam Iron Cleaner, which I found actually cut ironing time in half by removing clogging scale, resulting in more steam and better ironing efficiency. I've also used this product for shower heads to get full flow of water, and to make kettles, vaporizers and sterilizers work better.

Now this same company has put out three more special cleaning aids, which also do a very fine job. Their SSS-T Rust Stain Remover removes rust stains from fabrics, porcelain sinks and tubs, and metals such as chrome on cars and venetian blinds. It is safe on hands and all finishes.

... cleans coffee stains from coffee-makers without rubbing or scrubbing, and soaks away stains from plastic dinnerware, like melmac and melamine, leaving dishes clean and sanitary.

They have also developed a new way to remove a wide variety of stains. You simply roll on this SSS-T Rollaway Stain Remover (like you roll on deodorants) and ink, blood, cosmetics, food, paint and other stains are rolled away. It is safe for colors and all washables ... excellent for collars and cuffs.

All this reminds me of a phrase of my father's "get the right man for the right job." The SSS-T Cleaning Aids people seem to have the same idea.

Welfare states develop a wheel-chair philosophy in able-bodied people. The Indians, for example, no longer accept the idea of the Great White Father at Washington. Indeed, they now have good reason to know there never was one."

WILMINGTON*SHAMROCK DRIVE-IN*OL 8-8081*Like Wow—Your Boy Can Be The Ginchiest***

How to get a boy interested in being clean, neat, presentable — that is the question! Some boys like to be neat and clean...

...some boys have enough natural conceit... some boys may imitate a public hero... some boys may emulate dad... some boys have discovered girls!... but most boys have to be pushed and prodded by Mom... or go through just one awful gruesome embarrassing moment to get hep.

Many pre-"shavers" will fool around with Dad's razor and Old Spice shaving lotion when Dad's not around... but when it comes to tying shoelaces, cleaning fingernails, washing behind ears, combing hair or taking a bath, Mom has to make like an ogre or do a Dick Tracy, following him around with a club. This gets to be something of a chore, since the problem is so day-in-day-out eternally present... and Mom has other things to do, too.

But one day he will find "a kitten" (a girl who's got everything)... they will exchange rings, buttons or sweaters and go into orbit (a guy and gal who are going steady.) Don't be alarmed if he says "he stabbed her" — he only means he gave her his fraternity pin... and if he bought her a "slurp" it was just a milk shake.

Of course, the moment he becomes girl-conscious he is aware of — if not amenable to — reason... and even then sometimes it's hard to get him to admit it. If you can't get through to him any other way — give him an Old Spice Varsity Set for his birthday, or as a reward for "pencil-pounding" (homework), or for no other reason except his own good. "Ugh"

he may come back with... on the other hand he may be secretly pleased, and if he ever asks for your advice, give him reasons in clear-cut "jive" (English).

These are the years when he is forming lifelong habits and this set has three items that will help him to form good habits.

He will go for Short-Cut — the Old Spice hair dressing made especially to control a boy's hair, short or long... provides more effective manageability than liquid or cream for it keeps hair in place all day... overcomes dryness, too.

You won't have to sell him on shower soap. It's on a rope which he can hang 'round his neck... on the tap or the towel-rack.

He will like the new Old Spice men's stick deodorant too. This is the time when the sweat glands become active... and a boy who becomes accustomed to using a deodorant as a teen-ager will always be a well-groomed guy later on. The new plastic stick-applicator is ready for instant use... non-sticky, cooling, long-lasting. Tell him about those five million busy little glands in the body, active 24 hours a day, regulating body temperature, water-proofing the skin, throwing off waste. Some of that waste creates bacterial matter, and this is what makes an unpleasant odor and stains shirts and sweaters.

The gift of a Varsity Set at an early age may turn that "kookie," shy, gawky teen-ager 'real cool' almost overnight. That's the way it happens sometimes — just overnight! ("Ginchiest — that's the utter utmost, Daddy!")

Pretty Hostess Leads Exciting Life

Meeting people from all over the world makes the job of a Linjebuss stewardess most exciting, says Ingrid Meijling of Lund, Sweden. Here she is shown ready to board tour passengers at Basle, Switzerland, on a modern coach, for the 13-day trip to Austria, Italian lakes and Switzerland. Miss Meijling, is in her second year with Linjebuss, which operates luxury European tours. She speaks Swedish, French, German and English fluently, and says her job gives her a chance to practice all four languages.

Miss Meijling graduated from the University of Lund and was an exchange student at the University of Oregon from 1953 to 1954. In addition to knowing languages, a Linjebuss stewardess must have a good cultural background and be familiar with the points of interest enroute to answer intelligently all reasonable questions.

What of her future? She'd like to marry an American businessman and start a "Linjebuss service" in the United States. She feels it could be a profitable business.

"Modern jets take you where you want to go, and when you get there you are likely to see oxcarts and adobe houses."

Entertainment for the evening was a presentation of the first act of Christopher Fry's comedy "The Lady's Not For Burning." Further plans were also discussed in preparation for the first production of the new season, the popular stage success, "Harvey", which will be presented on Friday and Saturday evenings the 13th and 14th of November at the Reading High School Auditorium. Refreshments were served by Bernard and Mary Riley to end a very pleasant evening.

AMBULANCE SERVICE INFORMATION

The Veterans Administration can pay for ambulance service or other transportation of patients to its hospitals ONLY when PRIOR AUTHORIZATION has been given, Dr. Francis B. Carroll, VA's Area Medical Director said today.

In medical emergencies, the private physician who telephones a VA hospital to request emergency admission of a veteran may secure the travel authorization from the hospital by telephone at the same time.

The physician requesting the emergency admission should tell the hospital whether it is for an illness or injury that has been rated service-connected, and if it is not, whether the veteran can afford to pay for travel to the hospital.

Veterans admitted to VA hospitals for treatment of service-connected conditions are entitled to necessary travel to and from the hospital at Government expense, provided prior travel authorization is obtained from the hospital.

Veterans admitted to VA hospitals for treatment of nonservice-connected conditions are entitled to this travel at Government expense only if they affirm under oath that they cannot afford to pay the cost of the travel and if prior travel authorization from the hospital has been obtained.

Is your day anything like this?
Drive husband to the station; drive the children to school; drive to the market, to the bank, to the library;
pick the children up from school; meet hubby at the station. All this, of course, besides the housekeeping!

Nobody knows better than you do, that the family car is no luxury —
it's practically your second home.
Yet the gasoline it runs on is taxed at a higher rate than most luxuries. Now an additional increase in the federal gasoline tax has been proposed.

A new gasoline tax would add to the already high cost of living. Not just by increasing the price of each gallon of gasoline, either, but also by upping the transportation costs of food and other commodities.

These added costs mean higher prices on market shelves, because trucks play such a large part in food transportation. Fully 55 per cent of the fresh fruits and vegetables you buy at leading market centers, 68 per cent of frozen foods, 34 per cent of all fishery products and 48 per cent of canned fruits and vegetables travel over the highway.

It's hard enough to stay inside the budget these days of high prices. A new gasoline tax would mean an extra pinch on your food and automobile budget, and buying less of what your family needs for health and well-being.

Let's Help
Cut Down
Traffic Deaths

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

There's a special cause we women can take up this Fall.

It's a project each and every one of us can do something about ourselves: Helping cut down on traffic deaths.

The Automotive Safety Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to education and research for safe, efficient highway transportation, has issued this bleak warning: Current outlook is that 1959 will set an all-time high in traffic deaths; exceeding the 39,969 in 1941.

What can we do about it?
Plenty.

Here are just a few things we women should and shouldn't do to make the streets and highways more safe:

- Don't get into an argument before getting behind the wheel of the car. At least 50 percent of all accidents are caused by drivers with emotional upsets.
- Beware of a dripping ice cream cone. Or dropping a lighted cigarette in your lap.
It takes only seconds to pick it up, but it's those seconds that count.
- Don't be a nagging wife. It tends to take the driver's mind off driving, to make him more susceptible to an accident.
- Don't be a slowpoke driver.
They are a highway menace,
so keep pace with traffic.
- Be polite to motorists, and never take your eyes off the road while conversing and driving.
- And finally, drive defensively.
Watching out for what the other driver might do
can be your best driving habit.

New Stainless Steel Paint Cuts Maintenance Costs

A. O. Allen, Vice President, Vita-Var Corporation, Newark, N. J. announces that their research laboratory has developed a multi-pigment stainless steel paint, #13448, which represents a significant advance in the durability of maintenance paints for exposed steel and aged galvanized iron. According to Mr. Allen, Vita-Var Corporation cooperated with a large power company in the pioneering of its development.
This paint, which contains mixtures of stainless steel flakes, (18% Cr, 8% Ni) and non-metallic pigments in a long oil alkyd vehicle, has successfully passed 8 years of extensive laboratory and field tests in corrosive areas.

Outstanding advantages of this paint are extreme durability in corrosive atmosphere, with a life expectancy of at least 12 years, ultra smooth surface which readily sheds dirt, thereby retaining its freshness after years of exposure, excellent brushing, hiding and package stability properties, minimum chalking, plus the added advantage of enhancing its appearance upon aging.

Labor expenses represent 80% to 90% of total maintenance painting costs and while the cost of this paint is approximately twice that of quality conventional paints, consumers may look forward to savings of 30% or more due to its extended life.

Oil's best customers are people who are "going places." Close to 40 per cent of the entire output of the petroleum industry goes to run the nation's passenger cars, buses, and trucks. Another five per cent helps run the merchant marine, barges, and the more than 5 million pleasure craft on our lakes and rivers. Some three per cent is used by the railroads, and an additional one per cent by 66,000 U. S. commercial, private, and corporate aircraft.

LEGION NOTES

The folks who attended the Legion Social last Saturday night again had a wonderful time. Music, of course by the versatile trio, Ray LaFortune. The buffet supper consisted of a variety of cold cuts, potatoe salad, coffee and cookies.

Officer Frank Mason, of the Boston Police Department kept everyone on the dance floor, singing with the band---it was worth a $1.00 alone, to listen to him; not to mention the U. S. Treasury Agent Al Franz, with his humorous narrations.

The Commander, hopes those who missed this social will remember next months on Saturday, November 14, and also wishes to thank members and friends who contributed to the success of this social. Laura Doucette again won the door prize.

Don't forget---the Legion Whist Party, Monday evening, October 26th at 8 p.m. The prizes will surprise you. Keep in mind also, November 12th, the Turkey Whist for needy families. Remember folks! when you support the Legion or any veteran's organization, you are helping someone less fortunate than you. That is the foundation of your veteran's organization -- caring for the needy. So please join today, for information, call Eugene Sullivan, Com. OL8-3818 or Vice Commander Frank Tebeau, OL8-2890.

Legionnaires don't forget, the 15th of this month is our meeting night---attendance prize awarded---it can be yours if you attend.

LEGION AUXILIARY WHIST

The public is cordially extended a welcome to attend a public whist party which is to be held on Wednesday, October 21 at the Legion Hall.

Sponsored by the Auxiliary, the whist party will be at 8 p.m., with a fine selection of prizes.

Refreshments will follow the whist, which is under the direction of Sec. Joan Sullivan.

PACK 58 SILVER LAKE BETTERMENT

Committee members and Den Mothers of Pack 58 met on Friday, October 2, 8:30 p.m. at the home of Chairman Mr. M. Bielecki to plan a Halloween Party for Friday, October 30 at 7 p.m. in the Silver Lake Betterment Hall.

The Cubscouts will entertain their parents, brothers and sisters by performing skits on 'Halloween Poems' and Fables from Aesop.

Games for all---cider and doughnuts and candy treats.

A prize of One Silver Dollar will be given to each winner of BEST, FUNNIEST AND MOST ORIGINAL COSTUMES.

Cubs, sisters and brothers, all wear a costume! All awards will be given to the parent of the winner, who will in turn, present them to the winner.

If any woman in the Silver Lake or South Tewksbury area would like to become a Den Mother, the pack would welcome her.

Please call, Chairman Mr. Bielecki, OL8-2374, Mr. Byette OL8-3967 or Mr. Labo, OL8-3916.

THE OTHER DAY

A sociologist was talking about disciplining children, and the importance of striking a happy balance in handling children.

Obviously it is a most important subject to parents, and like so many other things, we've got to find the happy medium if we are going to do it right.

Too much or too severe discipline is definitely bad, but too little or none at all is even worse from the sociologist's point of view. When parents go soft hearted in handling kids, the sociologist says they do them irreparable harm, not just more harm than good. The dictionary gives this definition of discipline: 'Training which corrects, molds, strengthens, or perfects,' and we suppose none of us would want children to go without such proper training, but atlas, quite a bit of severity must be used to make such training effective. It is just young human nature not to understand this, and therefore to resist to the fullest.

To clinch his point, the sociologist says, he has never heard of an adult thanking his parents for a lack of discipline in his youth, but many a happy person thanks his parents for starting him off right with a well disciplined childhood.

In business, disciplined training carries over in many benefits to customers, and with us it is a prime goal that you get maximum satisfaction.
